

Snakes and Lizards Take Home Activity

Part of narrative skills is being able to talk about and summarize what you're doing or what you've done. Create this paper plate snake and take it with you as you go about your day. Later in the day share with your family or friends what you and your new snake did.

Directions:

On a paper plate draw a spiral. The center of the spiral will be the head, so draw an oval-shaped area in the center of the spiral. Cut along the spiral lines you drew. Decorate the body of your snake .
